Shower panels

Shower panels provide an all encompassing shower solution. These are just like a tower or column which incorporates a fixed shower head and a shower handset in addition to body jets which combine to offer a range of showering options. These units can be manually controlled. Bringing the trappings of luxury baths to almost any shower, bathroom shower panels are built in for style and function.

But how it is different from the shower at your head. Bathroom shower panel on one side are fixed on the wall and on other side you can use the hand held shower to direct water where ever you want. This can be extended to five feet range from the point of their attachment. Not only this but the bathroom shower panels come with the feature of body jets in which you can actually experience the massage with the therapeutic jets. In all models of bathroom shower panel you can actually adjust the flow of water.

Available in a variety of specifications, shower wall panel are assorted with all-purpose facilities to choose from. Strong and practical, exquisitely designed shower panels can be wall or corner mounted. Combining versatility, robustness, practicality and aesthetic appeal, shower panels are widely used in domestic, commercial, industrial and leisure environments.
